FOURTH INCREASE IN PETROL, DIESEL PRICES WITHIN TWO WEEKS

LPG anxiety grips households as fuel hikes squeeze budgets

VIVEAT SUSAN PINTO
Mumbai, May 26

THE LATEST ROUND of petrol and diesel price hikes is intensifying pressure on Indian households, with cooking gas emerging as a fresh inflation flashpoint.

A new study by Worldpanel by Numerator (formerly Kantar) shows that nearly 74% of households expect LPG prices to rise further in the near term, reflecting growing anxiety over essential expenses at a time when families are already grappling with elevated fuel and transportation costs.

The concern comes amid the fourth increase in petrol and diesel prices within two weeks, reviving fears of broader inflationary pressures across the economy.

Worldpanel conducted a national survey among 3,600 households, extrapolated to the national universe, examining how LPG supply disruptions are altering cooking behaviour.

"Nearly 8 in 10 households report difficulties due to limitations in LPG availability, signalling widespread friction in

Indian households say that it is taking longer than usual to get cylinders

For restaurants too, a sustained rise in commercial LPG prices has emerged as a significant cost burden what should be a basic utility," the report said. 37% of Indian households say that it is taking longer than usual to get LPG cylinders. And 42% describe as getting a cylinder as "very difficult", the report said.

The ripple effects are now extending beyond household kitchens to restaurants and food delivery businesses, where commercial LPG prices have risen consecutively for three months starting March. Industry executives attribute the increase to supply disruptions and volatility triggered by the ongoing West Asia conflict, which has pushed up global energy prices.

For restaurants, the sustained increase in commercial LPG prices has emerged as a significant cost burden. Food service operators estimate that rising cooking gas expenses have led to a 100-200 basis point impact on operating profit margins in Q4FY26, forcing many businesses to reassess pricing and operational strategies.

For households, the concern is more immediate and psychological. Worldpanel said 34% of households are worried about the impact of LPG inflation on their overall monthly budgets, underlining the growing importance of cooking fuel in determining perceptions of financial security.

The study found that LPG stress is increasingly becoming a proxy for household well-being, especially among lower-income families where fuel and food account for a large share of the monthly expenditure. In such households, even modest increases in cooking gas prices can significantly affect discretionary spending and savings.

The study says that 57% of households (largely lower-income families) have reverted to back-ups such as wood, traditional stoves (chulhas) or kerosene. 25% of households are avoiding gas-intensive activities like boiling water, heating milk or repeated tea, coffee preparation. Some others are avoiding dishes that have longer cooking time.

Economists said fuel inflation tends to have a wider cascading effect because it simultaneously raises transportation, logistics and utility costs. Higher fuel prices can raise freight expenses, while LPG inflation directly affects household budgets as well as restaurants and food businesses.

New insolvency cases slow in FY26

MANU KAUSHIK
New Delhi, May 26

FRESH ADMISSIONS OF cases under India's insolvency framework slowed down in FY26 with around 663 corporate insolvency resolution process (CIRP) cases admitted, down from 733 cases in the previous financial year, a CareEdge Ratings report said.

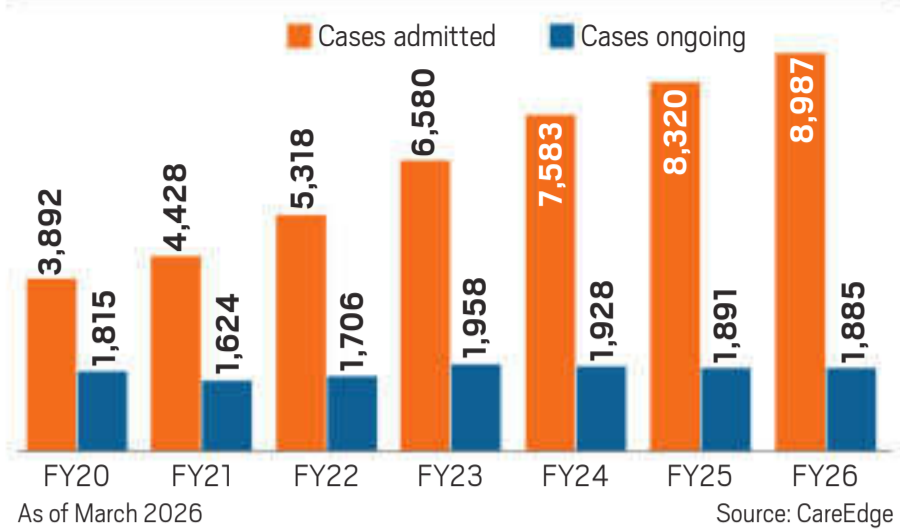

It noted that while cumulative admissions under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC) rose to 8,987 cases by March 2026, the pace of incremental admissions has moderated significantly from the peak years following the law's rollout.

"The number of admitted cases rose to 8,987 in FY26, reflecting continued expansion in the insolvency resolution ecosystem.

"However, despite this increase, total admissions through FY26 remained below 700, indicating relatively subdued levels over the past five years," it said.

As per the ratings agency, around 15.8% of cases were successfully resolved till

STATUS CHECK

March 2026 through approved resolution plans, which is marginally better than 14.4% in March 2025. However, only about 21% of cases remained ongoing in the resolution process, down from 23.2% a year earlier, reflecting a gradual decline in the share of live cases.

Also, liquidation continued to remain the dominant mode of closure with over 3,000 cases, accounting for 33.4% of total admitted cases, ended up in liquidation as of March 2026, compared with 32.2% in March 2025. A significant proportion of these cases include legacy-stressed/defunct entities.

The report noted that the composition of CIRP initiations has undergone a notable shift in recent years, marked by a decline in cases initiated by corporate debtors and a moderation in filings by operational creditors.

"The financial creditors continue to account for the largest share of insolvency filings, underscoring the increasing institutionalisation and wider acceptance of the IBC as a creditor-driven resolution framework," it said. Despite the moderation in fresh filings, the timelines for resolution and liquidation continued to worsen.

The average time taken for resolution cases increased to 744 days in March 2026 from 713 days a year earlier, while liquidation timelines rose to 531 days from 508 days during the same period.

Further, the ratings agency said that nearly 78% of the 1,885 ongoing CIRP cases had remained pending for more than 270 days, marginally higher than 76% in December 2025 and broadly in line with the level observed in March 2025.

Peak summer demand strains coal stocks

STATE-RUN COAL India (CIL) on Monday said that the company has around 1.68 million tonne (MT) of coal available across power plants, mine heads and transit points, seeking to calm concerns over fuel shortages as rising summer consumption sharply tighten thermal coal inventories. The reassurance comes at a time when India's peak power demand has touched a record 270.82 GW, increasing dependence on coal-fired generation to stabilise the grid during periods of high evening demand. FE BUREAU
